BROOKS LIGHTS CHRISTMAS TREE AND KICKS OFF HOLIDAY CONCERT SERIES

County Executive Maggie Brooks officially led the County's tree lighting ceremony held Tuesday afternoon in the Atrium of the County Office Building and kicked off the 2004 Holiday Concert Series. Holiday music in the County Office Building has become an annual tradition. Each year Monroe County sponsors free lunchtime performances in the Atrium of the County Office Building, 39 W. Main Street. Musical groups from schools across the County will perform in upcoming concerts to be held during the noon hour each Monday and Wednesday through December 15th.

The first concert of 2004 featured the Franklin High School Gospel Choir. The Choir is comprised of 40 students from grades 7 through 10 directed by Chuck Monachino.

The Greece Olympia High School Acappella Choir will perform Wednesday, December 1st at noon.
